Water Quality Map for The UK

Key

-  Soft to moderately soft water area

-  Hard to very hard water area

Easy Twin Filter Installation

Lime Scale Blocking Ion Exchange Filter

Twin Filter System.

The twin filter system is design for homes that have hard water. The additional ION exchange resin filter counters lime scale. Hard water ( lime Scale) are mineral deposits from water that are present in hard water areas. The Ion Exchange pre filter is designed to remove harmful lime scale, lead and copper traces from the domestic water system.

The ION resins are used to replace the magnesium and calcium ions found in hard water with low concentrate sodium ions. This process is known as water softening. Ion exchange filters do not remove Chlorine or other organic matter which is why it needs to be used in conjunction with the K2H2O water quality filter kit.

If you live in a soft water area then it will not be necessary to add the second ION exchange resin filter kit.

In hard water areas it is important to protect your tap cartridges and seals from lime scale attack. It is equally important that the boiling water tank is protected from lime scale build up as the sensitive thermistors inside the unit need to accurately relay temperature information so the unit works consistently well and delivers years of satisfactory service.
